spondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung, who has close relations with the Foreign Office, surmises that one purpose of the visit of Chancellor Von Beth-mann-Hollweg and Foreign Minister Von Jagow to Vienna is to discuss what steps may be taken to counteract the efforts of the entente powers to induce the Balkan states to join them in the war.A dispatch from Vienna yesterday stated that Dr. Von Bethmann-Holdinal von Hartmann, archbishop of Colonia, and Cardinal von Bettinger, archbishop of Munich, have addressed the Pope, strongly protesting against a publication which has appeared in Paris under the title of "War and Catholicism."This publication was compiled by Monsignor Baudrillard, rector of the Catholic Institute at Paris, with an introduction by Cardinal Amette, archbishop of Paris, and relates to alleged German atrocities, chiefly against the church.Cardinals von Hartmann and von Bettinger deny that such atrocities

by a Uddio Dispatch—Special Road
Built for the Artillery.(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)
UDINE (Italy) June 28 (via Paris, 5:50 p.m.).—The bombardment of Malborghetto continues. This laconic phrase has been repeated daily since the bombardment of the Austrian positions just west of Tarvis began on June 12. To understand its meaning one must realize that the struggle is occurring in the very heart of precipitous mountains which rise between the Italians and Austrians like a Titanic wall.The work accomplished by the Italians in this region is described by the head of the French military mission as Cyclopean. A special road has been built for the transportation of artillery to the peaks for the bombardment of Malborghetto. Donkeys and mules were used for carrying the guns, ammunition and provisions, and a thousand mountaineers, and even women, climbed the heights with packs on their shoulders.When everything was ready the Austrians bombarded the road and made the Italian positions untenable.
The Italians then decided to bombard Malborghetto by parachute fire, and placed their batteries behind the mountains, where the Austrians could not see them.With the assistance of signallers on top of the mountain the Italian gunners in the presence of King Victor Emmanuel and the members of the British military mission, began a bombardment of the position.
The first shells were fired, but the second went very near, and struck what the Italians call Austria's Thermopylae.
The King shook his hands with the officer directing the gunnery and he was also warmly congratulated by the British officers.BRITISH BARK

BOSTON, June 28.—[On the 3rd of June, 1911, a notice signed by The Christian Science Board of Directors and headed "A Memorial to Mrs. Eddy" appeared in the Christian Science Sentinel. The notice ran as follows:"It has been truly said of our beloved leader, Mrs. Eddy, that the works she has done will remain as her monument; also that she is one of those 'who need no monument, for their names are graven on many hearts.' Nevertheless, it is the desire of Christian Scientists to erect in Mt. Auburn cemetery a memorial tribute to Mrs. Eddy, and through which they may evidence something of their love for her and of the grate-tude they feel for the priceless blessings that have come into their lives through her Christian and self-sacrificing labors as the discoverer and founder of Christian Science."Because of the many letters which have been received by the board of directors of The Mother Church, expressing a desire to contribute toward the erection of a suitable memorial, it seems fitting that an opportunity should be given to all who wish to be represented; therefore, the board

TEAR FLESH FROM MEN.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, June 28.—Some idea of the power of the Austro-German artillery, before which it is impossible for men to stand, can be gained by a description of the new Skoda shells, which have been used in driving the Russians out of Galicia.
These shells are seventeen inches in diameter and weigh 2500 pounds. They are fired from a high-angled howitzer, and in consequence the shells hit the ground at a great velocity. They will penetrate through soft ground for twenty feet before exploding. The discharge of a Skoda shell means death to everything in a circle of 150 yards. The shells are fired with the pressure of gas ripps off the covers of bomb proofs and shelters. The concussion from gas, it is said, not only tears the clothing from the bodies. So intense is the heat generated that it will melt rifle barrels. With no such power as this, the Austro-Germans could have had no possible chance to check the Teuton advance.

INTERPRETED.Cardinal Gasparri Says the Pontiff was Misquoted.Declares Latapie Interview Gives False Meaning.Also that Many Grave Assertions Were Invented.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

ROME (via Paris) June 28.—An interview published in the Corriere d'Italia this morning with Cardinal Pietro Gasparri, the Papal secretary of state, discusses the interview obtained last week by Louis Latapie, a liberte of the staff of the Paris La Liberté, with Pope Benedict.Cardinal Gasparri denies that Pope Benedict said, "It was under the pontificate of Pius X." when asked by M. Latapie if it was necessary to inquire whether the reality of Belgium had been violated, but the secretary of state does not say what words that pontiff used."But much graver is the confusion of M. Latapie when he speaks of the relations between the Holy See and Italy," continued Cardinal Gasparri.
"The following is the real opinion of the pontiff:
"It is true that he wished Italy to renounce the conflict upon receiving concessions from Austria, because he desired that Italy should not suffer the horrors of war, and he was preoccupied with the delicate position of the church if Italy entered the conflict. War once declared, the church became entirely neutral. It has done nothing for the spiritual welfare of the soldiers.The pontiff recognizes that the Italian government has done everything possible to attenuate any difficulties that might arise between it and the Holy See. The Vatican's correspondence is not being touched. But that does not mean that the situation of the Holy See is normal. It does not intend to create an embarrassment for the government.
"The holy father much deplored the sinking of the Lusitania, but he has done nothing directly on it, because there was before him a question of fact regarding which each side makes different assertions."With regard to what concerns me personally I saw M. Latapie only a few minutes. In that time the diplomatic relations between the Holy See and France were not mentioned. M.
Latapie would have done better had he maintained the promise he formally gave me not to publish anything without previous authorization.But as that formal promise was not observed, I am obliged to say that from such deplorable indiscretions, M.
Latapie will have the honor of being the last journalist to be received by the holy father during the war.
"M. Latapie invented many grave assertions. You must remember that a phrase taken from the contrast cannot reproduce faithfully a thought, or what is worse, it gives a meaning entirely false.In consequence, take the quotation regarding hostages in Berlin. What confession! The pontiff is made to mix the Jews of Alsace with the Belgian priests of Cremona, and the Belgian priests, all of which, according to M.
Latapie, was covered in the allocation of January 25."In regard to the Jews, it was in March that Austria-Hungary sent a protest to the Holy See. The protest was not mentioned, as the Holy See could not condemn Russia on the sole affirmation of Austria-Hungary. The Pope was informed that Italy had taken some parish priests of the towns occupied as hostages but the Bishop of Cremona informed him that they were not in the hands of the Austro-Germans, but in the hands of the Belgians. The pontiff furnished them with funds for masses. The Pope knew this perfectly. However, they could put them in the category with the Belgian and French hostages or with Jews of Russia?In consequence, take the quotation re-

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(By Direct Wire—Exclusive Dispatch.)

Alien Coin in Mexico.

It is in the Mexican situation. Whenever such activity reaches the point of setting on foot a military expedition from the United States, the United States will follow, according to Mr. Warren, who is handling the case.

TRACED TO EUROPE.

The information gathered by government agents discloses that the various groups have a common purpose in opposing Carranza and Villa, but are working independently. Inquiry is being made to learn what financial interests are supporting the various factions, and there are hints that citizens of one of the belligerent countries of Europe are involved in the plot.

VILLA REFUSES RED-CROSS AID.

HIS OFFICERS CURTLY REJECT OFFERS OF SUPPLIES.

AMERICANS ARE INFORMED NO ASSISTANCE IS NEEDED IN COAHUILA—CARRANZA SHOWS DISPOSITION TO INTERFERE WITH SIAL EXPORTS—ALL IS QUIET IN YAQUI VALLEY.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Civil and military authorities in Coahuila loyal to Gen. Villa have served curt notice on the American Red Cross that relief supplies will not be permitted to enter that state.

Brig.-Gen. C. A. Devol, manager of the Red Cross at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., has received such messages from Gen. Perla at Saltillo and from the Governor of Coahuila.

FIVE HUNDRED HOMES SUBMERGED BY FLOOD.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

EDMONTON (Alberta) June 28.—With upwards of 500 homes wholly or partly submerged, twenty or more of them swept from their foundations and carried down the river, Edmonton is experiencing the most disastrous flood in the history of the city. Since Saturday night the Saskatchewan River has risen over twenty-one feet, and is still rising.

The river is 32 feet over low water mark. The industries located on the flats of the city, as well as the homes, are inundated. The low level bridge across the river is out of commission and may be swept away by the torrents and the One Hundred and Fifth Street bridge is in danger. Nearly 600 more homes are imperiled and every available team in the city is being utilized to haul furniture out of the houses. Many homes have been roped to trees and to solidly implanted posts. The mills and industrial plants along the river are in danger.

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.)

KANSAS CITY, June 28.—Officials of St. Clair county, Missouri, filed an answer today in the United States District Court in the famous St. Clair county bond case, involving bonds issued by the county in 1871 to promote the Tebo and Nechee railway, in which the promoters claimed that the county was not the legal holder; that the county is without funds to pay the bonds and that the methods of reviving the judgments against the county each nine years is illegal.

The Food for Human Beings

Dr. Wiley is America's greatest authority on foods and food values. In a recent magazine article he said: "I think you can live on wheat alone in the form of whole wheat products, but not on white flour alone. Milk is the wheat of the infant, and wheat is the milk of the adult. Indian corn, because of the amount of zein it contains, is not so well suited for growing animals as wheat."

But be sure you get the whole wheat in digestible form. All the muscle-making material in the whole wheat grain is made digestible and deliciously palatable in

BUILDERS AT PICONIC

BUILDERS AT PICNIC.

Time-Honored Sports and Sportsmen
New Ones Yield Barrels of Fun at Schutzen Park.

A jolly crowd of 325 architects, builders and building material dealers enjoyed an outing at Schutzen Park Saturday. An automobile parade of seventy cars, led by a band, moved through the streets at noon. On arrival at the grounds a barbecue was offered to the crowd under supervision of M. A. Berne.

After his address of welcome, S. L. Weaver was presented with a silver plaque for his twenty years' service as president of the Material Dealers' Association. The afternoon was spent in the usual sports, including a hot ball game, which ended in a tie in the fifth inning.

The fast man's race was won by W. E. Linn, of the W. W. Vance, who was the fastest thin man. Mr. Vance also proved the winner in the fifty-yard free-for-all dash, while the sack race was won by the stoutest man, Ben Dahl. A grained pie contest was won by Clarence Bean. Louis Porter won the knocking contest, as he succeeded in driving home the most nails in five minutes.

The affair was the second outing of the men engaged in the building industries. Arrangements were made by J. H. Exchange, president of the Builders' Exchange, H. B. Potter for the credit for his work as secretary of the architects, Fred E. Pierce, H. K. Koebig and others. The success of the affair was largely due also to M. A. Berne, president of the Creditmen's Association.

Returning home from their national convention, held last week in San Francisco, the railway mail clerks from all parts of the United States will arrive here at 8:30 o'clock this morning on a special train. The party will remain three days.

Arrangements have been made for their entertainment here. A special reception will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in the Chamber of Commerce, to which reception all railway mail clerks are invited. Those who are invited. Congressman Randall, himself a former railway mail clerk, will speak.

Tomorrow the visitors will be taken on automobile rides throughout the surrounding country. They will be the guests of the railroad officials and their fellow-clerks while staying here.

WANTS TAXI; GETS PATROL WAGON.

MOTION - PICTURE MANAGER IS ACCUSED OF VIOLATING TRAFFIC LAWS.

Henry M. Lehrman, known as Henry Patha, who says he is general manager of the L-Ko Film Company, was forced to ride in the patrol wagon from the Alexandria Hotel to the Central Post office last night and was locked up for violation of the traffic laws by driving an automobile past a standing policeman.

He put up $25 bail and was released. Mr. Lehrman was arrested by Patrolman Culp, who says he saw the motor car, and he moved to the street car, only after the patrolman had chased the other by automobile from the scene of the "crime" to the hotel.

After the officer had cornered Mr. Lehrman in the hotel the prisoner was taken to the station and according to the officer, was locked up. He was taken to the police station unless a taxicab was sent for. Officer Culp refused to call a taxi and instead sent for the patrol wagon.

Seated in lone state, Mr. Lehrman rode to the station and then hailed a taxi, which he had to have to appear in Police Court today.

THOMAS IS MOVED.

SAN FRANCISCO Collector—Against Whom Charges Were Once Made Is Transferred to Portland.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Announcement that B. M. Thomas, a special agent for the collector of Internal revenue, had been transferred to Portland, was followed today by Thomas's own statement that three years ago charges made against him had been investigated and he had been given a clean slate. J. J. Scott, collector of Internal revenue, refused to discuss the charges.

One of the charges, Thomas said, was that he maintains a legal residence in Santa Cruz, Cal., but lives there with his family and draws $25,000 a year for duty, while he is absent from his legal residence. Thomas said this was true, permissible under the statutes, and customary.

John McCabe of Portland will succeed Thomas here.

McCabe said he did not know why he was being moved at this time.

Development Company Case against the Southern Pacific Moved from New York to Kentucky.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 28.—Because the question arose of lack of jurisdiction, the Supreme Court moved a New York case, before which was filed a suit for $150,000 damages for breach of contract, to the United States District Court for the western district of Kentucky by the Development Company of America, Incorporated, and the Southern Pacific Company. The suit is the legal domicile of the Development Company. Attorneys who filed the suit today announced that it in New York would be discontinued.

The Southern Pacific Company wanted to lend the development company $150,000, it is alleged, in the filed today, but subsequently refused to make the loan. The Development company claims that as a result credit became so impaired it was forced to make a loan to the Development company, including seven Arizona mining companies, many of which became bankrupt.

There is no charge and the 4000 seats are free, and the general public is urged to attend.

Gov. Hanna Here Today.
Gov. L. B. Hanna of North Dakota and staff will arrive here at 7 o'clock this morning from San Diego to spend one or two days. They will be met by President Bull of the Chamber of Commerce and the committee of that organization extended. There are no formal arrangements for his entertainment here, but from noon from 2 to 5 there will be an open-air reception in Hollenbeck Park.

Mrs. Field Coming.
Mrs. Marshall Field, widow of the multi-millionaire merchant and philanthropist, is on her way to this city in the private car Chicago, according to advice received yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce and the committee of that organization extended. There are no formal arrangements for his entertainment here, but from noon from 2 to 5 there will be an open-air reception in Hollenbeck Park.

Contributor of the largest special train party that has arrived in the Southland this year, Reading, Pa., jumped into the limelight yesterday with the arrival of 250 residents of that city at the national convention will go to San Diego this evening, but will return tomorrow night to remain two days before coming here to Catalina Thursday. A number of members of Rajah Temple, en route to Seattle for the big Shrine gathering, are members of the party.

Well, Naturally.
When Gov. Frank B. Willis of Ohio last week cancelled arrangements for a California tour that was to have landed him here tomorrow, there was considerable speculation as to the reason. The mystery was unraveled yesterday when the Chamber of Commerce received advice that the governor is coming west in August with the six most beautiful women in Ohio. The beauties and the governor will travel in a special train to the Columbus, August 12. As usual, a film concern is behind the beauty part of the arrangement.

Same Fourth in Woods.
That there may be a safe and sane celebration of July 4 in the Angeles National Forest, Supervisor Charlton calls attention to the law prohibiting the taking of fireworks into the woods or setting them off there. The penalty is a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50, and imprisonment from fifteen days to six months, or both. There will be a strict enforcement of the law. The towns along the foothills have adopted ordinances against the sending into the mountains of toy balloons, that are a constant source of fire menace.

Medical Congress Special.
A round of the hospitals and sanatoriums of the city and vicinity has been arranged for the entertainment of the forty-four South American physicians who will arrive here this morning from San Francisco, where they have been in attendance at the Pan-American Medical Congress. Special committees of the Chamber of Commerce and Los Angeles Medical Association, headed by Dr. A. J. Scott and Dr. Dudley Fulton, respectively, will meet the visitors with motor coaches at 3:30 o'clock at the Alexandria. The visitors will be luncheon guests at the Pottenger Sanatorium at Montclair.

July Busy Travel Month.
Indicative of the immense travel that may be expected in July, six special train or car parties were booked yesterday by railroads for movement during that month. These are in addition to large previous bookings. A special car party of members of the Zeta Tau Alpha society of Springfield, Mass., will arrive here, July 5; fifty students of Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Miss., are due, July 10; a Thomas Cook & Son party of ninety persons is due, July 10; a party of 125 Buffalo teachers, July 11; another Thomas Cook & Son party of 120 persons, July 17; and New Orleans members of the Knights of Columbus by special train, July 23.

USES KNIFE TO COLLECT WAGES.

SO BARBER IS IN JAIL WHILE ANOTHER HAS WOUND OVER HEART.
A free-for-all fight, staged early last night in McKee's barber shop at No. 522 South Spring street, landed a barber in the Receiving Hospital with a stab wound just over the heart, and another barber in the City Jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The trouble all started, according to detectives Bean and Burgess, who made the investigation, when A. Burns, an unemployed barber living at No. 327 New High street, entered the McKee shop and demanded $5 from the head barber, E. O. Stewart. Burns, according to the police, said Mr. Stewart owed him $5 as pay coming to him when he was discharged by Mr. Stewart some time ago. As Mr. Stewart refused to pay, Burns drew out a clasp knife and went to work on head barber. Before the others working in the shop, headed by F. M. Young, could come to their chiefs relief, he fell to the floor stabbed just above the heart and also bleeding from small cuts in the chest and right arm.

When the police came in answer to a riot call they found Burns firmly in the grasp of half a dozen barbers, and Mr. Stewart under the care of a doctor. The wounded man was taken from the Receiving Hospital to his home at No. 654 San Juan street, Venice. Burns was locked up, still protesting he had taken the only means in his power to collect the $5.

GET NOWHERE IN FRAMING CHARTER

SO WRITERS' STATEMENTS ARE TO BE MADE, GIVING VARIOUS PLANS.
W. M. Humphreys told his colleagues on the Board of Freeholders last night that they were as far from getting started on a charter as they were before election. He elided the board for not making progress upon the fundamental question—whether we shall have a Mayor and Council plan, a commission plan or a manager plan or some other plan of government.

The Freeholders decided something must be done. They have decided this same momentous thing at each meeting and the members were quite unanimous in arriving at a decision that the present system is as full of flaws as an Alreale is full of fleas. Unanimity was lacking, however, when it came to suggesting a cure. The upshot last night was an agreement to have each of the members or each group bring in a plan, written down in pen and ink on legal cap. These several plans will then be mulled over and if possible some decision will be reached.

Such freeholding athletes as Messrs. Haines Reed, George H. Dunlop and C. Edward Lockwood agreed the fundamental fault with the present system is the overlapping of power and confusion of authority, but the trio overlapped and were somewhat confused when asked for a remedy. The Freeholders will meet Saturday night.

Light on New Paths Harmony is Shed by of the Sort Ever Held Celebrities Here.

YESTERDAY in Los Angeles a revelation in the work of musical students of the city are doing. Much of a significant character was also made known to the opportunities which are afforded in America for the purpose to better himself in an art, and incidentally perhaps to something in a more material way. The practical side of music is dwelt on very extensively during convention of the National Federation of Musical Clubs.

Day after day the festival is getting more interesting, and its significance more forcibly apparent. It is thrown on the new paths and the melodic and harmonic art is developing. The degree of progress is regarded as astonishing.

All who are in attendance at the festival declare it to be the greatest musical event ever held in the United States, and it is only a matter of time before the program for the next year will contain even greater interest in many ways than those given today, and Thursday will bring the premiere of the prize opera "Patriotism" by the composer, J. S. P. Poulton.

The musical festival, which was the students' concert at the Auditorium in the afternoon at the concert of

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS GIVE SHOW THAT'S A WINNER.

PLOT. That is where the "1915 on Parade" excelled even the best musical comedies. It had less than most of them, but enough to finish the show in one great seat-raising chorus with its stirring extra announcing the impossible event, "Cub Reporter Loses $100,000." Knights of Columbus and their friends who filled the Mason for this first effort were pleasantly surprised.

The show had the snap of the real "Follies" in the review of events. The musical members were good enough to last for a long time after this first rendition. The dancing was clean and classy. There were no halts, not even between the acts, have during the time that Grand Knight P. J. McGarry made the announcement of the winner of the prize diamond bracelet, Miss Marie McGrath, for her lyrics.
At the same time he expressed appreciation for the work accomplished by the young Knights and the boys and girls of the older Knights, who had volunteered their services. Particularly did he praise the hard work of Christy Walsh, author of the libretto and star as the cub reporter.

The clicking of typewriters, telegraph instruments, the copy desks, telephones, office boys and all other appurtenances of a newspaper office are there when the curtain rises. The cub reporter, about to be fired, discovers a wonderful "peace dog" and with this goes to the war zone with the guarantee that if he stops the war, he wins $100,000.

Battlefields, foreign courts, camp and hospital life, garden fetes all unfold rapidly and skillfully, showing the master hands of Edgar Temple and Emil Bierman keep the movement unflaggingly, if it is only the guarantee that if he stops the war, he wins $100,000.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(AT HOME) Great amounts of our coal are now being taken for export to the Dardanelles, causing the stocks of railroads known as "coals" to rise considerably in price, besides having a general betterment on many other industries. Exchange on both Italy and France fell to new low marks, while London again touched its former low price. The Bank of England ordered $2,500,000 gold sent to New York, bringing the total from this source up to $55,000,000 since January 1.

(ABROAD) English brokers sold American shares moderately, Canadian Pacific being the principal stock dealt in.

(FOR DETAILS SEE FINANCIAL PAGES.)

GETTING THE BEEF.

Never mind if that last box of cherries cost you a little more than when the market was glutted. Just remember that you are getting the best fruit from the best land in the world.

RISING YOUNG MEN.

The Jess Willards of America are abundant. They are not world champions of the prize ring, but they come up in strength from low estate and amount to something in the world.

STAGE TEARS.

It always amuses us to see people shedding gallons of tears in a theater when the heroine gets stuck for a peck of trouble and then see the same people go out in the streets and pass worse things on every corner with their heads in the air.

NON-ESSENTIALS.

It is of no great benefit to learn who won an automobile race that you didn't know was being run. Thousands of things we learn and do are of just as little value as this to you, because you have no working interest in them.

PLAY THAT APPEALS.

The mother heart that fights for its young even before they are born has a remarkable illustration in the play called "Kindling" at the Burbank this week. This is a melodrama of the finest type and is presented at this time by a cast of exceptional merit.

JUGGLING WITH TRUTH.

In a play a woman says that being right is greater than being good, and that sometimes it is harder to be right than it is to be good. This is a revival of the old fallacy of doing evil that good may come. It is merely the sophistry with which people save their conscience when they want to do something that they know they should not.

RECOVERING LOST GROUND.

A bandit, who held up jitney bus drivers with a pistol loaded with chewing gum, claims to have been inspired by the example of a highwayman in New York who was put on parole for five years and saved so much money in that time that he got married and asked to be kept on parole for another term of the same length. It is rather curious that a great many persons do take just such a left-hand view of life. They seem almost deliberately to put themselves under some wretched handicap and then live for years with the one hope of getting back where they were before they started. The odd thing about all this is that nobody seems satisfied with his lot until he has lost it.

SECRET LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS.

The public are no longer admitted to the sessions of the German Reichstag. The street from which the members enter the approaches to the building where the sessions of the Reichstag are held are closed and guarded by the Berlin police. This was made necessary by the fact that thousands of women gathered around the entrance to the Parliament house crying for bread.

The German press, with the exception of the Berlin Vorwaerts, did not refer to this incident, for the German press, with the exception of the Vorwaerts, dreads suppression. That journal does not mind suppression. It has been suppressed several times, until, like the eels who grew accustomed to being skinned, it rather enjoys the operation. Its subscription and advertising patronage are not diminished, indeed it makes money by being suppressed for a day or two, for it is spread the cost of getting out a paper on those days.

Levi P. Morton, ex-Vice-President, has just celebrated his ninety-first birthday. He has demonstrated as eminently as anybody the country has known the capacity of the business man for politics. He has been a power in both the business and political world.

It is believed that the population in this country will increase fast with the close of the war.

UTTERINGS AND MUTTERINGS OF NONPARTISANSHIP.

A certain, or, to speak accurately, an uncertain contemporary, criticizes The Times for asserting that nonpartisanship in the selection of public measures is undesirable. It asserts that every citizen should "approach a public question from an independent point of view, that he should keep an open mind, be willing to receive and weigh arguments, to think, to reason, to form correct conclusions, and to act in conformity with his own convictions."

Well, is not that exactly what every intelligent American citizen—almost every American citizen—is intelligent—does? A voter does not become a supporter of the doctrine of protection because it is a cardinal principle of the Republican party. He or she co-operates with the Republican party because it favors protection. A Democrat is not a Democrat merely because that party is in favor of the resolutions of 1793. He is a Democrat because he is assured that his own faith in finance, his folly in political philosophy, his individual asininity will find welcome and shelter in that organization of obstructionists.

If ten or a hundred or a million men agree in opinion concerning the wisdom and desirability of a public measure, why in the name of common sense should they not maintain an organization to promote the adoption of that measure?

What really means by nonpartisanship is non-organization. If it is wrong or undesirable in religion, is it any wrong or undesirable in religion, in social and in business life? But bid the Baptists abandon immersion, and the Methodists make kindling wood of the anxious bench, and Episcopalians tear up the liturgy, and the Catholics discontinue mass, and every Christian seek salvation according to a method of his own without counsel or companionship from other Christians and how much would Christianity gain by nonpartisanship?

If non-organization is desirable, why not put an end to associations of Masons and Odd Fellows and Pythians and Elks and let many of the sick go untended and the hungry go unfed?

If non-organization is desirable, of what use are Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and manufacturers' associations and the numerous industrial, artistic, literary and benevolent societies which exist in every city in the United States?

No civic life is healthy without organization of the forces which compose it. Esop's fable of the sticks which when separated could be easily smashed, but which when tied together in a bundle were unbreakable, exhibits the wisdom and necessity of organization in every branch of human effort.

Nonpartisanship in California is the offspring of Hiram Johnson's belated appreciation of the fact that he has had his day. He obtained the Governorship as a partisan Republican. He retained it as a partisan Progressive. He notes for he cannot help noting—that within the last few months the Progressive party has been utterly and irretrievably wrecked, and that his only possible chance of obtaining the Senatorial toga he covets is by disorganizing all parties, by making the race a scrub race, where, in the absence of rules, an uncurbed bronco may stand a chance to outrun a thoroughbred.

If the nonpartisan law should be—as it probably will not be—approved by the voters, we would be likely to have not a nonpartisan election, but an all-partisan election. Every Progressive candidate would adopt Esopian tactics. He would say to a Republican voter: "I believe with you, my friend, that the only way to rehabilitate our shattered industries will be to restore the doctrine of protection." He would say to a Democrat: "I stand by the principles of Thomas Jefferson and insist that the State is greater than the nation." He would say to a prohibitionist: "I join you, my friend, in your denunciation of the demon rum." He would say to the Socialist: "You are right in believing that the country is cursed with too many predatory capitalists. Down with solvency. Will you take your whisky in a punch or a cocktail or just as God made it—straight?"

The newspaper which clamors for nonpartisanship intimates that voters now "do not form reasonable conclusions based on a knowledge of the facts, but wait for the bosses of some political party to tell them what they should think."

But what kind of voters has the author of the editorial in our "uncertain" contemporary been associating with?

NO COMMUNICATION WITH HONOLULU.

The statement made by R. P. Schwarz, vice-president of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, concerning the effects of the shipping bill is as follows: "The Congress of the United States, at the demand of organized labor, legislated to place the trans-Pacific traffic under the Japanese flag. It does not seem possible that the framers and promoters of this act could have contemplated so disastrous a result, yet from a study of the different requirements of the act it is plain that the conditions to be complied with are such that only the Japanese steamship lines, officered and manned by Japanese, all speaking a common language, heavily subsidized by the Japanese government, can fully and easily meet."

Capt. Robert Dollar of the Dollar Steamship Company said: "The death-blow to American shipping on the Pacific was struck when President Wilson signed the La Follette seamen's bill. The Japanese will undoubtedly get the trade of the Pacific from which American ships will withdraw. Already the government has had to give a Honolulu mail contract to the Japanese." The Dollar line has prepared to meet the conditions imposed by the La Follette bill by transferring its ships from American to British registry. The Matson and the Hawaiian line will be compelled to take the same course, and the purchasers of the Pacific Mail Company's vessels will necessarily do likewise.

Inasmuch as foreign vessels are prohibited by law from plying between United States ports, it follows that all vessels—including Japanese ships—conveying passengers and freight between Honolulu or Manila and the Pacific Coast will have to make their terminus at Vancouver or Prince Rupert. From thence passengers and freight for the East can be transported by rail by the Canadian Pacific or by British steamers via the Panama Canal, and passengers and freight for Seattle, Portland,

On Our Pay-Roll.

San Francisco or Los Angeles can be sent by rail by the Southern Pacific or by sea on British or other foreign steamers.

A law the immediate, inevitable and dire effect of which is to drive from the Pacific Ocean all merchant ships carrying the American flag is so monstrous a thing that it is filled with amazement in contemplating it. Yet it was not inadvertently enacted; Congress was informed of what the effects of its passage would be, and the Department of Commerce pleaded in vain with President Wilson not to sign it.

PEACE SUGGESTIONS USELESS JUST NOW.

All peace propagandists should be able to understand that just now no amount of outward persuasion can have the slightest effect toward hastening the end of such a conflict as that in which all but a few minor countries of Europe are involved.

Suggestions of peace at this time to either side can only arouse resentment. That they are well-meant, as of course their nature proves them to be, cannot win consideration. Any attempt at outside interference is objectionable as long as each side is firm in the conviction that it will ultimately be victorious.

The initiative toward peace must come from within the belligerent nations, either from a turn that will place one side or the other at a decided advantage, or else of ultimate exhaustion of both sides. Up to the present the latter outcome seems to be the more probable, as far as one may judge of conditions that are known to the world.

Warfare has been in progress during more than ten months, yet there is no indication that the course of it has turned decisively. Germany has been unable to extend its invasion of France, and France has been unable to expel the invaders. In the East Russia has suffered a setback, but the German and Austrian armies are ever confounded by new forces which Russia is bringing to the front. Great Britain has effectively shut in German shipping and shut out traffic with German ports, but Germany's submarines are daily destroying British ships and ships of neutrals passing to or from British ports. In the Dardanelles there is evidently a deadlock. Italy's forces, after a rapid advance through Austrian territory near the border, are seemingly slow to accomplish anything further.

In all this there is nothing to warrant the belief that the end of the war will soon be done through victory. And it is a virtual certainty that whatever the outcome, sides must be the result of continuance of warfare during any considerable time.

But in the meantime both sides are firm, and peace suggestions from without will either receive no attention or be resented.

A UNIQUE ANTI-LIQUOR LAW.

On July 1 there will go into effect in the province of Saskatchewan in the Dominion of Canada a unique anti-liquor law. It is not prohibition; it is not high license, and it does not abolish the sale of liquor; but it obstructs it so as to make it difficult for a man to quench his thirst with any beverage which contains alcohol.

The 455 liquor licenses now operative in Saskatchewan will be cancelled on Thursday next, and the places in which liquor damage can be procured will be reduced to twenty-three in number, all owned by government and conducted by highbrow government officials. There will not, under the new law, be any "barroom blight" in Saskatchewan, for the liquor sold must not be upon the premises nor upon a public street nor in any store, hotel or lodging-house nor anywhere except in a private dwelling, and the traveler or the bachelor sojourner who has no private dwelling and who has no friend who will let him have the use of his private dwelling will be molested his arid throat will not be able to "look upon the wine while it is red."

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE CULTURED CHILD.

How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to be the dad of an obtrusive, cultured youth, an educated lad. You labored with the farming tool, and spent a vast amount that Clarence Claude might go to school and drink at learning's fountain. And now that you are old and bent, no comfort do you know, for when you mutter "I have went," proud Clarence shrieks with woe.

"Come off your perch, oh, Father John," says Clarence, grim as fate; "the proper phrase is 'I have gone'—why don't you get it straight?" And when you murmur, "I have saw," the crime's too rank for tears; you hit poor Clarence on the rear, he sheds unmanly tears. At last your tongue has ceased to clack; you now refuse to talk, through deadly fear that you will back poor Grammar off the rails. Sometimes you argue with the mules, since children are a frost, or ask the horses if the schools are worth all that they cost. But in the house you close your trap, for if you say a word, young Clarence Claude, that cultured chap, will be profoundly stirred.

GOING TO BED.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

When the wives get in intimate conversational mood they make some funny confessions about hubby and his ways. This being the season when artless maidens take over new spouses for better or worse, at any rate for a few weeks, a little information regarding the unconsidered habits of the genus masculine may not be amiss.

For instance, it has been a time-honored impression that it takes madams several hours to get to bed. She is understood to possess a passion for brushing her hair with measured rhythm while she reviews the events of the day. Then there is the face massage, two kinds of cream, and mountain of cold cream and witchhazel for her hands to be disposed of.

One rather pictured hubby as having some lightning method by which he loosed one button and within two seconds or so laid his peaceful, well-balanced, logical head on the pillow, followed rapidly by that comfortable, rhythmic grunt that betokens the fact that Nature's sweet restorer has commenced operations.

But if the conversation of a dozen or so wives may be believed, it takes hubby hours, yes, hours, to perform the necessary preliminaries to wooing sleep.

He has a passion for lotions and liniments and creams and does that is absolutely fearsome. There are always numerous anatomical spots that need rubbing, and various particular lotions to rub them with. And as for hair, the evidence would seem to suggest that there is not a husband but lives in dread of losing his remaining hair. If he has plenty, he has five separate kinds of hair tonic for helping him keep it. If he hasn't any, there are at least ten methods of treatment for helping him get it back. And there is no patience and perseverance, no sublime hopefulness and optimism like that of the bald-headed husband.

He will devote twenty perfectly good minutes to massaging his pate with some deodorant cream which is understood to accelerate the hair cells into activity and at the same time avoid increasing the wrinkles on the forehead and round the eyes. He solemnly sits before the mirror with his arms aloft, keeping all the lights at full blast, while he vainly endeavors to woo Morpheus. He gets up at intervals and clatters the bottles in the bathroom trying to find the next item on the programme.

Another cause of anxiety is his nose. Very few men are satisfied with their noses. And they dread a permanent hiatus. But the beauty specialists have not left this question unconsidered and peroxide creams galore are compounded for this purpose. We have heard a great deal of satire about the peroxide blond of femininity, but few of us guessed to what an extent they were being deceived by a peroxide nose.

And if he is a martyr to embonpoint, the poor wretch often burdens himself with a sort of harness apparatus, hitched to the door, at which he works till he nearly drops. There are also anti-fat tablets and drops and massage creams, many or all of which are faithfully and heroically applied. And he will parboil himself in a hot bath which must surely remove at least one layer of outer cuticle every night of his and life.

Feet invariably demand attention. If the wives are to be believed, men, for all their sensible low heels, are martyrs to corns and bunions. The masculine foot must be even more unrepresentative than the feminine because, of course, it did not start so beautiful. There are corns and bunions applications to be attended to, and corn plaster to be flaked out of socks and a new one to be placed where it can, with luck, be found in the morning. All accompanied by suitable comment of a forceful order.

Then there is his neck. It appears that the masculine neck has to be kept in condition even as yours and mine. It has a regrettable tendency to get flabby and scraggy, of emphasizing its Adam's apple and of cultivating a collar line. Three distinct styles of bedtime treatment are demanded for these woes, and few husbands, apparently, are prepared to neglect their duty to art.

Then there are the callous places on the hands—not mark you, from the household gardening, representing an abundance of blisters and blisters, but from golf. There are six thousand golfing husbands in Southern California, who all have hands that command attention.

So much for the externals. But as a matter of fact it is his innards that take the bulk of the time.

A bromo seltzer is frequently desirable. It is not good form to encourage a stomach, but alas, the average husband has a stomach. And a liver. And kidneys. Each of these little internals are a matter of serious and responsible attention from him. He has his pet doses for each of them, which require glasses of water and cookies to help them down. He hates them, he groans under the tyranny, but he would no more dream of neglecting them than he would of denying his country on July 4.

When the solemn rites are finally completed his temper is very raw. Then he finds there is an important button missing on his night attire, and wakes the household. He doesn't get any sort of satisfaction by raising the household and settling down to bed. But it's part of the routine. As dawn appears on the horizon he tumbles into bed and starts rearranging everything. The pillow is never right, the sheet too short or not tucked in enough at the foot, or the blankets too narrow or too heavy or not heavy enough. He is convinced the mattress is filled with rocks. He damns the neighbors' roosters and the neighbors' new baby. The bed is placed in the wrong part of the room, the windows are not open or open too wide, and what is that confounded dog barking for?

No wonder there is no one in the house who can make a decent cup of coffee. No wonder the bacon is too hard, the toast like concrete, the eggs underdone.

A fond bride-elect who was being "put away" these trifles listened with polite boredom.

"Oh, dear, John won't be like that," she essayed comfortably.

"No, dear, of course not. I remember feeling the same about Arthur," sighed the experienced matron. "It is a merciful providence that permits us all to marry the grand exception."

More Ships Wanted.

[Indianapolis News:] The Philippine Islands have had this year one of the best crops in their history, but great hardship has been worked by lack of ships in which to carry them and sugar to foreign markets. Quantities of agricultural products are lying useless in warehouses or on the ground.

"Have you made up your mind what party you will vote with next election?" "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "In these days of political change a man may as well wait and see what parties there are."—[Washington Star.]

NEW ISSUE IN CONTEMPT CASE.

Court's Jurisdiction Over Former Water System.

Defendants' Plea that the Public Utility.

Conference of Attorneys Bring Adjustment.

The question of the extent of jurisdiction of the court over the Imperial Valley Water Company and the water supply was raised before Judge Myers yesterday in connection with the proceedings against the company and other defendants in the Imperial Valley Water Company No. 5.

Former Judge Alfred Hansen of San Diego and Lieut.-Gov. Eshleman appeared for the water company. The latter raised the issue of whether the jurisdiction of the court over the company was limited to the collection of revenues by reason of the finding of the State Railroad Commission that the company is a public utility.

The argument, which continued until 11 o'clock, centered around the finding of the Imperial Valley Water Company No. 5. These affidavits were filed by the company, and the court was asked to consider them.

Judge Myers stated that the company appeared to him as a defendant in a legal sense, and that he had no bearing on the issue. He asked Mr. Eshleman, "I think that the company is a public utility, and that the court has jurisdiction over it. Is that correct?"

Mr. Eshleman replied that the company was a public utility, and that the court had jurisdiction over it. He stated that the company was a public utility, and that the court had jurisdiction over it.

JITNEY DAMAGE ACTION IS WON.

RULINGS OF INTEREST TO ALL MOTORISTS ARE MADE.

First Case of Sort Before Jury in Superior Court Results in Verdict Holding Bus Driver and Wealthy Woman Responsible for Death of Child.

The trial of the first jitney bus damage suit before a jury in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday resulted in the court handing down instructions of interest to every automobilist. The suit had additional interest from the fact that the daughter of a prominent real estate operator was joined as a defendant with the jitney bus driver.

The action was brought by Ben E. Blair against Frank Fletcher, driver of a jitney, and Miss Muriel Parish, daughter of O. E. Parish. He asked $25,000 damages for the death of his daughter, Celeste, 9 years old, who was a passenger in the jitney when it collided with the car of the defendant on a street between Vermont and Pico streets. He charged negligence on the part of both. The jury returned a verdict of $2750 damages against both defendants.

"The law," said the court, "provides that persons approaching an intersection of two streets have the right of way under control and that they shall not cross the intersecting streets of Vermont and Pico, where the accident occurred, at a greater speed than ten miles an hour."

"A violation of either of these provisions of this law would be negligence on the part of the party so violating the law and if such negligence proximately caused the injury, it would require a verdict against the defendant so violating the law."

He also held that failure to yield the right of way to traffic when required under the circumstances would be a violation of the law and would render the party so failing negligent.

OPPOSE SALE OF MINE PROPERTIES.

Alleging that $100,000 an inadequate price for the mining claims held by the United Gold Mining and Milling Company and asking for an injunction restraining the delivery of the conveyance and for an accounting, Charles A. Mau, Charles W. Hornick, W. M. Randall and Thomas J. Russell, stockholders, in a suit filed yesterday against the corporation, former Gov. Henry T. Gage and John B. Curtin, recent Democratic candidate for Governor, charged that for the purpose of depriving them of knowledge of the actual condition of the corporation, the books will be taken out of this state. The combined holdings of the plaintiffs is 70,938 shares.

The United Gold Mining and Milling Company is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at Paris, France. It owns the Omega, Tarantula, Boulder Deep, Golden Horn, Western Extension, Tarantula, Hawk and Lode Star mining claims in Tuolumne county. It is alleged that T. C. Crawford, the president, owns and controls 601,975 shares of stock in the corporation and that he has been in the business of the corporation through dummy directors. He resides in London, Eng.

Mr. Curtin, the resident agent, and Mr. Gage, it is asserted, negotiated for the sale of the mining claims without the knowledge or consent of the plaintiffs. Notice was mailed in Paris and timed so that they reached the plaintiffs a day or two before the meeting was held.

Upon the receipt of the conveyance, it is alleged that Mr. Gage will pay a balance of $10,000 for the claims, that they will be transferred to Mr. Crawford, who will apply the sum as an exorbitant salary to himself as an officer of the corporation. The mines have not been operated, it is declared, for the past two years.

DANCE PAYS LITTLE.

Out of the money he said he gave his wife to support their child, Carl P. Horn, who conducts a dancing academy at Fifteenth and Main streets, told Judge Wood yesterday that she bought an automobile.

"If she can do that on an allowance of $15 a week," remarked the court, "she is to be congratulated."

Mrs. Horn sued for divorce, but she was denied a decree. The court found there was sufficient evidence to warrant her request for alimony and he named $15 a week. She stated yesterday that Mr. Horn had not produced. Mr. Horn contended he could not, and he gave a detailed account of his operations at the academy.

Many came to dance, he said, but few to buy the dainties on hand. Wallflowers are not good for trade. His expenses average $700 a month. His wages to employees run from $15 to $75 a week. About 200 patrons attend on Saturday nights. They buy about $5 worth of ice cream, and a handful of dollars is spent in candy and cigars.

The court dismissed the charge and gave Mr. Horn a chance to see his child once a week. He paid $105 to his wife in child alimony.

WOMAN HAS NO MONEY.

Mrs. Weta G. Glasell, former wife of Hugh Glasell, one of the heirs of the large Glasell estate, was examined in supplemental proceedings before Presiding Judge York yesterday. A claim of $214 for legal services rendered by Attorney W. W. Butler, assigned by him to J. P. Fulmer, was the basis of the proceedings, which came to naught, as Mrs. Glasell convinced the court she had no money. In fact, she testified, she put up security for sums of money and obtained other sums without security.

Mrs. Glasell brightened up the dim courtroom. A very dainty picture she made, and the wonder grew that so fair a woman could be asked to show what, if any, assets she had. In fact, she did not come in under the supplemental order, but was brought in on an attachment issued by the court. She was discharged.

Mrs. Glasell sued Hugh Glasell for divorce, and was granted an interlocutory decree March 20, 1914.

WINS FIRST ROUND.

The preliminary skirmish in the $25,000 damage suit of Erich E. Kurths, whose exciting experience at the hands of the German law is being chronicled in the office of the Germania last March, grew out of a statement by Dr. Kurths which the attractive wife of Mr. Past presented, was won by the editor in Judge Works' court yesterday. The court overruled the demurrer on the facts and ordered them to file an answer to the action within ten days.

Mr. Kurths complains that Mrs. Past invaded his office, struck him on the face with a whip and threatened to shoot him, emphasizing the threat with a revolver.

CRIMINAL GRIST.

FOUR PLEAD GUILTY.

In Judge Craig's court yesterday John Kosey pleaded guilty to burglary, and July 8 was set for sentence and probation.

Henderson J. Whereant pleaded guilty to grand larceny, and he will be sentenced on July 8, when a similar order will be disposed of by the court.

Earl W. Shock pleaded guilty to getting money under false pretenses, and his petition for parole will be heard July 12, when he will be sentenced, if the petition is rejected.

George M. Loving, guilty of making an assault with a deadly weapon, was sent to lone for two years.

Y. J. Burns, guilty of burglary, was given a three-year stretch at San Quentin.

The estate of Mrs. Maud E. Kennedy, for whose slaying August 31, 1914, Percy Tugwell was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment, was ordered distributed by Judge Rives yesterday to her son, Philip A. B. Kennedy. NATAL DAY TO BE CELEBRATED.

BIG TIME AT EXPOSITION PARK ON THE FOURTH.

Independence Day Committee Completes Plans for Patriotic Observance with Sanction of Municipality at Which Thousands will Wear Flags.

Plans for celebrating the Fourth of July at Exposition Park were completed yesterday in Mayor Rose's office by the general committee appointed by the Mayor. Today chairman of the sub-committees will complete details for the greatest celebration of Independence Day in the history of Los Angeles.

Battery A, Field Artillery, N. G. C., will open the afternoon's program at Exposition Park with a salute of twenty-one guns. This will signal the raising of a flag on a 150-foot pole. When the flag is hoisted, the pole will send out a shower of thousands of small flags to be gathered by those who attend the patriotic ceremony.

The Secretary of the general committee was authorized yesterday to interview the Park Commission with relation to providing soft drinks on the grounds for the one day. It is expected that there will be a great concourse of thirty people at the grounds.

The grand stand is nearing completion and today the tall flagpole will be raised by the Southern California Edison Company.

An exhibition drill will be given by the fire department during the afternoon. The grounds will be thoroughly policed and the big crowd will be directed in a methodical manner.

The City and County Band will play and the Declaration of Independence will be read by a high school student not yet named.

There will be a programme of athletic sports and at the conclusion of the afternoon's program the day's fireworks will be touched off.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

WHAT CITY HAS DONE.

Mayor Rose is busy during the last days of his administration penning the words of a civic song that, when set to true Wagnerian music by his secretary, will be an epic of the progress showing the advancing strides Los Angeles has made during the last two years.

The recent annexation of the San Fernando and Palms districts has more than doubled the area of Los Angeles and has made this city larger in area than New York City. Mayor will also show that $4,350,000 worth of improvements were made in the last year, that about sixty miles of new paving has been laid on the streets and that the city handled 100,000,000 pounds of garbage.

The message, which will be sent to the Council as a review of the work accomplished and the projects yet unfinished, touches on the municipal power problem, the aqueduct and harbor developments, city and county consolidation and other features which have been important in the developments of the last two years.

Favor "Sniping" Ordinance.

The "sniping" ordinance, calculated to put a stop to the promiscuous posting of handbills and placards by political candidates and their friends, was recommended favorably to the Council yesterday by the Public Welfare Committee. The ordinance provides that no bills shall be posted on any city property, street, curb or sidewalk and not upon private property without the consent of the owner or occupant. A permit must be taken out by each person posting handbills or placards and each card must show the permit number. A heavy fine for violation is provided.

May Keep Their Cows.

Residents of the San Fernando, Palms and Baldwin districts who violated the city ordinance by keeping cows after annexation were taken care of yesterday by the Public Welfare Committee of the Council. An amendment to the ordinance was favored, excluding these districts from the provisions of the law which provide that no cow shall be kept within residence districts.

Who Pays Salaries?

The Council yesterday referred to the City Attorney the question of paying $7500 as salaries to members of the Board of Education. The Finance Committee holds that there is no fund from which this money may be drawn, and that the Council has no legal right. It may be that there will be a friendly suit in court to determine the legality of the claim.

Bits of Items.

The City Council yesterday went on record as favoring the consolidation of the offices of City and County sealers of weights and measures. Councilman Wheeler's resolution calls for a conference with the Board of Supervisors. Los Angeles is the only county in the State which has dual offices.

On July 7 the Council will hear protests against the improvement of the street from Reyes to Eleventh and Fifty-eighth street from Main street to South Park avenue.

With reference to the relocation of tracks San Pedro, the Council yesterday authorized the Utilities and Harbor boards and the Board of Public Works to take the necessary action and report to the Council.

The protest against moving Temple street from Oxford avenue to Kingsley drive was denied yesterday by the Council.

The Council will not consider the Salt Lake railroad's petition for a spur on Hollenbeck avenue until the verdict of the jury has been settled.

PUT OFF DYNAMITE TRIAL.

Caplan-Schmidt Case is Now Set for October—Delano Asks for More Time.

In Judge Willis' court yesterday the trial of the case against David Caplan and M. A. Schmidt, charged with the murder of Charles Hagerly, in connection with the dynamiting of the original Times Building, October 1, 1910, was postponed from September 1 to October 1. The date fixed for the argument to set aside the indictment is July 12.

The Mayor, E. E. Chapman, on the change of date on the part of the District Attorney's office, and Judge Willis announced he would fix his vacation date to meet the arrangement.

Fred Moore of counsel for the defense appeared and said there had been a recent change in the personnel of counsel and more time was needed for preparation.

TO SET CANES.

Judge Trippet announced in the United States District Court yesterday that July 12 he would set for trial all pending criminal cases in both Judge Bledsoe's and his own department, and that on July 13 he would call the law and motion calendar in both courts, concluding the same until it is entirely disposed of.

OVER THE DIVIDE.

Call Comes to Veteran Los Angeles Contractor and War Veteran at Age of Seventy-eight Years.

Stephen S. Kling, 78 years old, retired contractor and G. A. R. veteran cavalryman, died at his residence, No. 852 South Waterlooc street, yesterday afternoon. He leaves three sons, George S., Spencer J. and Wayland H. Kling, members of the Kling Contracting Company of this city.

Mr. Kling was born in Schenectady county, New York. As a young man he studied the building business. In 1858 he married Ann Jeanette Hoyt, a schoolteacher in an adjoining county. He prospered during the next three years and was contracting on a small scale when war broke out.

The call of his country came and he left his young wife, settling in the Twenty-sixth New York Volunteer Cavalry. All through the war he served and came back an officer.

As his three sons grew up, Mr. Kling taught them the contracting business. In 1897 he retired and came to California with his wife. Soon after the three sons transferred their business to this city, wishing to be near their parents. The next ten years passed pleasantly, and in 1908 Mr. and Mrs. Kling celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Four years ago Mrs. Kling died. Since that time Mr. Kling had fallen. He seemed lost without his comrades.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the residence, 852 South Waterlooc street. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Lime-Loss in Tuberculosis.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (January 17, 1914) was the following:

"It has been many times stated that in tuberculosis there is the prostration of an increased amount of calcium (lime) is lost both in the urine and feces. In fact, a demineralization has been thought to be an important element of the development of tuberculosis."

Always we have urged consumptives to attend strictly to matters of food, but often some effective remedy is needed. A large number of patients have been supplied with this. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so is safe to try. From your druggist or direct.

BARACA'S PLACE IS EXPLAINED.

Not Larger than the Church, Vice-president Says.

Purpose of the Sunday-school Classes is Given.

Other Events of Yesterday at the Convention.

The relation of the Baraca and Philathea organized Sunday-school class movement to the churches in which the groups exist was explained yesterday at the convention of the world-wide union of classes, now in session at the First Methodist Church.

The charge was made that the Baraca and Philathea idea has grown in strength and popularity to such an extent that in some instances it seems to overshadow the churches in which it is operative.

In his opening remarks at the first session of the convention Sunday afternoon, Marshall A. Hudson, president of the union, spoke of the relation of the classes to the church organizations, asserting that the Baraca and Philathea circles were entirely subservient to the Sunday-school and church organization that fostered them.

With the approval of Mr. Hudson, a statement was issued by Miss Henrietta Heron of Elgin, Ill., vice-president of the union, in which she asserted that it is the purpose of the classes to serve and not to dictate. Following is an extract from the statement:

"The Baraca and Philathea movement, because of its great strength and wonderful activity, has been more or less misunderstood and as a result has brought criticism upon itself. When a pastor or any other person really understands the great principles on which the Baraca and Philathea movement is founded, he comes into hearty sympathy with it."

"For several reasons the Baraca and Philathea movement stands pre-eminent in the organized Bible class work which is sweeping the country. First, it emphasizes the relation of the class to the school; secondly, it makes Bible study a part of the class; thirdly, it emphasizes the training of personal workers; fourth, its name does not imply any denomination; fifth, it has the best of the working experience of twenty-two years."

"The Sunday-school is just as much a part of the church as the preaching service, and the Sunday-school and church are the very nature of things, a vital part of the church. Somehow the idea has gained ground that the organized Bible class is some kind of a new organization that is seeking admission into the Sunday-school and the church, when the truth of the matter is the organized class originated right in the Sunday-school as a means of enlarging and increasing its usefulness."

"We should emphasize the importance of every class co-operating with the pastor, finding out where he needs help and supplying it; aiding him in evangelistic services and attending the preaching services and prayer meetings."

The election of officers was the most interesting part of the business session which opened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. After discussing the services, conducted by Rev. Charles C. Seelman, pastor of Trinity Auditorium, the convention was organized and the following officers chosen for the world-wide union:

NEW OFFICERS. Marshall A. Hudson, Syracuse, N. Y., president; T. C. Reynolds, Marysville, Ky., vice-president; Rev. Charles McKendall, Johnson, N. Y., vice-president; Miss Henrietta Heron, Elgin, Ill., vice-president; Mrs. Florence E. Haas, Los Angeles, vice-president; Mrs. E. Mankin, Washington, D. C., vice-president; J. R. Jenkins, Waco, Tex., vice-president; A. S. Hampton, Syracuse, recording secretary; E. W. Tatum, Salisbury, N. C., junior Baraca secretary; Miss Mary E. Davidson, Cleveland, junior Philathea secretary; Miss Edith L. Boscoe, St. Paul, Philathea secret service secretary; Gordon G. Singleton, Atlanta, Baraca secret service secretary; H. H. Blackburn, Spartanburg, S. C., transportation manager.

The programme of the morning session included an address by Rev. Mr. McKendall on "This Year's Aim" at the joint session; address by Miss Mercy Crandall of Los Angeles on "Making Good" at the Philathea separate sessions; and class reports by Luther C. Reynolds at the separate Baraca sessions.

The afternoon session was devoted to an address by Dr. James A. Francis, and the discussion of various features of the work. The feature of the programme last evening was an address on "The Young Man of Today," by Rev. John S. Spokane.

After a business session this morning the delegates will depart at noon for Long Beach for an afternoon of pleasure. The trip to the beach city will be made in a special train over the Salt Lake line. The delegates will leave the First Methodist Church at noon in special street cars for the depot.

PATHETIC CASE.

Cottage of Poor Family Stripped of Every Bit of Furniture Although All Paid For.

When Mrs. Max Schneider, still weak from a severe illness, stumbled home to her little cottage at Hawthorne last Friday evening after a day vainly spent in search of work, she felt about in the dark for a chair on which to rest a little before settling about preparing supper for her small brood. She could find none. By the light of the match which she struck she saw that the furniture of her home had been stripped of every bit of furniture except the bedstead, mattress, kitchen furnishings, even the modest carpet, were gone. It was then that she discovered the discovery of the furniture company's men, accompanied by a deputy constable and a writ of possession, had brought a moving van and carried away to the last place the stock of furnishings for which the Schneider family had been laboriously paying on the installment plan for more than a year and upon which only $6 remained to pay out of a total bill of $71.

Supporter for lack of cooking utensils, the little family spent the night on their two remaining bits of "furniture"—a ratty couch and a lumpy and decrepit mattress, the only articles which they had not purchased from the furniture company. In the morning Mrs. Schneider wanted to know to see what could be done about it. She had no carfare, so she walked. To a member of the firm she explained that from her sickness she had paid the company her last $5 and that she had defaulted on the final payment because she had been unable to work. She brought letters from business firms in Hawthorne and Inglewood attesting her honesty and unfortunate condition and offered to try immediately to borrow the last $5 if the furniture could be returned.

The business man said he was sorry but he could do nothing. He further informed her that, in order to recover her furniture, she would pay to represent the court costs to which he explained the company had been obliged to go in order to protect its interests. He elucidated for her the law of perpetual contracts by virtue of which articles bought on installment remain the property of the seller until the last dollar is paid. This law was promptly sustained by the office of Public Defender Wood, who said he could not do anything either.

Mrs. Schneider's chances of raising $20 by the work she is able to get by the light of the match which she struck were slim. It is likely that the ratty couch and the lumpy and decrepit mattress will remain in the lone furnishings of the Hawthorne cottage.

RAILROADS' ANSWER.

Voluntarily Document to Be Filed in Litigation Involving Oil Lands in Kern County.

A voluminous answer was filed in the United States District Court yesterday by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, Kern Trading and Oil Company, and a number of other defendants, to recover certain lands in Kern county, alleging that they are oil bearing and not subject to patent under authority of the act of Congress passed to encourage the building of the Southern Pacific.

The defense is a general denial of fraud in the application of the company for the lands and the issuance of a patent. It is alleged that when the list was filed by Jerome Madden, land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and until long after, it was not known that the lands were mineral bearing.

It is further alleged that when the patent was secured and until the first discovery of petroleum and an active portion of the land, none of the lands sued for were known to be mineral, and it is further said that at that time the United States had an equal chance with the railroad company to know as much about the land as the defendants.

It is alleged that about one-tenth of the land is known to be mineral now, but that this was not known until long after July 10, 1894, when the patents were issued. It is further stated that no part of the lands sued for is now or ever has been known to be valuable for any other mineral than oil.

The defense is a general denial of fraud in the application of the company for the lands and the issuance of a patent. It is alleged that when the list was filed by Jerome Madden, land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and until long after, it was not known that the lands were mineral bearing.

It is further alleged that when the patent was secured and until the first discovery of petroleum and an active portion of the land, none of the lands sued for were known to be mineral, and it is further said that at that time the United States had an equal chance with the railroad company to know as much about the land as the defendants.

It is alleged that about one-tenth of the land is known to be mineral now, but that this was not known until long after July 10, 1894, when the patents were issued. It is further stated that no part of the lands sued for is now or ever has been known to be valuable for any other mineral than oil.

For Many Years Prominent in the Methodist Church and an Editor of The Fourth Estate is Dead.

[New York Herald, Sunday, June 29.] The Rev. Dr. Daniel Moschel, Birmingham, for many years prominent in Methodism in New York City and also since 1894 closely associated with his son, Ernest P. Birmingham, in the publication of The Fourth Estate, died June 18 in Greenville, S. C., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred H. Gray.

Dr. Birmingham was born at Montgomery county, N. Y., August 18, 1822, the son of David Birmingham, a successful farmer. He was prepared for college in Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Academy and entered Geneva (N. Y.) University, but illness obliged him to withdraw during freshman year. He was the youngest of four brothers who came to California in the days of the gold fever and who became prominent in the mining and banking interests of Marysville and San Francisco.

Returning from California in 1860, Dr. Birmingham spent a year in Geneva (N. Y.) Seminary, and in 1861 entered Yale College. He was graduated in 1865 and received the degree of divinity from the same university. He was the youngest son of the Rev. Dr. Moschel, a Baptist clergyman of Royalton, Conn., and as the laws of Yale excluded married men he was obliged to obtain dispensation from the corporation to enter.

After being graduated he entered the General Biblical Institute at Hartford, N. H., now the School of Theology of Boston University.

He was graduated in 1867 and received the degree of divinity from the same university. He was the youngest son of the Rev. Dr. Moschel, a Baptist clergyman of Royalton, Conn., and as the laws of Yale excluded married men he was obliged to obtain dispensation from the corporation to enter.

He was a member of various learned societies and had been the recipient of numerous degrees.

Since 1894, when he associated himself with his son in the establishment of The Fourth Estate, Dr. Birmingham had been a resident of New York City, giving his chief attention to the editorial conduct of that publication until failing health obliged him to give up active work and seek the milder climate of California, where he had been spending the winter with his daughter.

Dr. Birmingham was the brother of the late Mark Birmingham, one of the best known of California pioneers of 1849. The body of Dr. Birmingham will be brought to New York for burial.

Funeral services will be held at St. Paul's Church, 84th street and Third Avenue, New York, on Monday, June 27, at 12:30 noon.

PART III

STANFORD BARELY NOSED OUT BY CORNELL

CARDS FURNISH ROWING THRILL.

Lost to Ithacans by Scant Three Yards.

Eastern Critics Humbled by Western Fight.

Stanford at Disadvantage in All Ways.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
POUGHKEEPSIE, June 28.—The Red and White of Cornell flashed across the line a winner in the twenty-first regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association today, less than ten feet ahead of the Cardinal of Stanford. One and one-half seconds and three yards of Cornell split separated Stanford from victory.

During the four-mile fight the boys from Palo Alto caused the Syracuse Orange to fade into a shade of lemon, the Columbia baby blue and white seemed a delicate tint indeed, the Pennsylvania red and blue appeared black and blue, and the Cornell red and white all but faded into cardinal. The Ithacan colors paled considerably, at that.

WHEN CARDS WERE LOST.
Stanford lost the race during the last quarter-mile, when the western crew gave over its half-length advantage to Cornell. Guernsey's men took the lead after an eighth of a mile, Maurer stroking at the rate of thirty-six per minute. At the half-mile post Syracuse forced ahead and Stanford dropped to a thirty-two stroke.

At the first mile mark the shells were well bunched, with Stanford leading both Cornell and Syracuse. Pennsylvania was a close fourth, Columbia holding well to the rear. Stanford seemed content with third position after a mile and a half, when Cornell attempted to pass Syracuse. At two miles there was no change in position, but the distance between the Cardinal shell and the second-place Cornell boat had been considerably lessened.

Maurer was leading his men in a long, clean stroke of thirty. At two and a quarter miles Stanford was two lengths behind Cornell and one length to the rear of Syracuse. Columbia and Pennsylvania were plainly out of it. Position was the same at two and a half miles, but the Cardinal shell began to pick up rapidly and at the three-mile mark was but a length back of Cornell.

THE FINISH.
As the crews passed under the giant bridge Stanford was a length behind Cornell and almost bow and bow with Syracuse at this point the three leading shells increased their pace, Syracuse creeping up on Cornell, leaving the Red and White but a half length ahead. At three and a half miles the Cardinal bow passed both Cornell and Syracuse and it looked like a sure win for Stanford. The eight were rowing strong, and appeared to be taking it very easy as easy as any other boat on the river. Stanford's lead was never over a half length. Cornell still had enough strength to increase her pace to thirty-six, which brought her up even with Stanford. The two crews rowed bow and bow, the Red and White finally edging out the Cardinal for the finish.

As the echo of the starter's gun reached the throng of spectators the western crew ceased to be a non-contender. Stanford won respect in ten strokes. It was evident that there were but three crews in the race and Stanford was one.

A single mile was sufficient to label the Cardinal men as dangerous. At two miles they were feared. At three miles the East bowed their heads to the West. At three and three-quarters the western crew was feared more than ever.

POSITION BAD.
Stanford's course, No. 1, proved to be the most undrinkable on the Hudson. At the three-mile post the tide ceased to be of advantage and a cross-current headed at the west shore. Had the Cardinal had a position nearer to that of Cornell on the extreme east, or had Cowan's Goodman out over to east course No. 5, it is believed Stanford would have won. It was shown by an experiment with rowing blocks that Cornell had a distinct advantage of current. Guernsey believes a course nearer to the winner might have spurred his men to greater effort, inasmuch as there was a great expanse of water between course No. 1 and Cornell's position at No. 5. The general opinion is that had Stanford sprinted a quarter of a mile sooner it would have been a Cardinal victory. This opinion is shared by the Cornell coach.

"Our performance answers the criticism which we have received," the Stanford coach said after the race. "And say that we rowed a slower stroke than any shell on the river."

GUERNSEY'S ORDERS.
Guernsey picked Courtney's crew as his most dangerous rival. His final instructions were:
